Another element was added yesterday to the confusion in the financing of the Gould railroads when the stockholders of the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad were called upon to meet in Cleveland, Ohio, on Sept. 26 for the purpose of rescinding their action of last May in placing a $50,000,000 mortgage upon the property. The stockholders are asked to cut down the mortgage to $35,000,000. The demand to have the mortgage reduced was made by Blair & Co. and William A. Read & Co., who have been prominent in financing the new Gould rail-

The $50,000,000 mortgage was authorized on May 20 last to secure an equal amount of fifty year 4 per cent. bonds. Of these bonds it was I lanned at the time to reserve $15,000,000 for the purpose of retiring prior Hens. About $10,000,000 was to have been sold for immediate improvements and the remaining $25,000,000 retained for future

Some time ago Joseph Ramsey, Jr., who was then president of the Wheeling and Lake Erie, estimated that within three years the road would need about $15,000,000 cash for immediate use. These great expendi-tures were required to perfect the through line from Pittsburg west brought about by Terminal Company, which itself cost about $30,000,000. It has been estimated that the total extension and improvement of the Gould roads in the East would before complated cost $70,000,000.

When the mortgage was placed arrangements were made with Rudolph Kleybolte & Co. to take $10,000,000 of the bonds. Kleybolte & Co., however, refused to take the bonds, asserting that misrepresentations had been made to them about the earning capacity of the railroad. It was said by Gould interests that Mr. Ramsey, now no longer connected with the roads, had made the incorrect statements. At any rate, it was found necessary to raise money at once, and $5,000,000 of notes, with the bonds as collateral, were sold to Blair & Co. and William A. Read & Co.

The notes were secured by $12,000,000 of the bonds and were for three years only. On the day that the two banking firms agreed to take the notes it was commonly reported that they had been taken at 80. President Delano of the Wheeling and Lake Erie stated, however, that the bonds were taken at par. It was also said that they were immediately sold to investors.

were immediately sold to investors. In well informed trust company circles it was said, esterday that these notes were still being offered to trust companies by the bankers as late as yesterday. It was stated that the price asked of the trust companies for the notes was 83.

One of the conditions on which the two banking firms undertook to dispose of the issue of notes was that the mortgage be cut down to $35,000,000, as the experts for the banking firms had reported that the road could not stand a larger mortgage. The result of these financial changes is that instead of having $25,000,000 for future requirements the Wheeling and Lake Erie will have $8,000,000.

requirements the Wheeling and Lake Erie will have $8,000,000.

Besides the immense requirements for the Eastern Gould roads, it is believed that the Western Pacific, the 900 mile Gould ine projected from Salt Lake to the coast, will require about $75,000,000. The bonded indebtedness is already $50,000,000, and the increase a few days ago of the capital stock from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000 indicated that $25,000,000 more bonds will soon be required.

that $25,000 more bound to the Gould required.

George J. Gould, the head of the Gould reads, will return from Europe day after te-morrow. Mr. Gould will in all probability succeed Mr. Ramsey as president of the Wabsah, of which he is now acting president. Mr. Ramsey, as well as Mr. Gould, has been in Europe all summer.

SCARED BY CONCRETE.

Their Trade-State Conferences.

The bricklayers' unions are up in arms gainst the rapidly increasing use of concrete as a substitute for brick and stone in buildings. They say it is a serious menace to them and if continued will tend to wipe out a number of building trades. The sub-ject will be discussed at a special meeting of the New York State Conference of the bricklayers and Masons' International Union in this city early in September. Delegates from every local union in the State will attend.

The formation of State conferences is a recent innovation, and they have been organised in some of the States in a perinctory way. If they are successful they will be made a permanent institution is every State. It is proposed that the conferences have stated meetings for the purpose of discussing matters outside of wages and hours of labor, which are left to the local unions. This is the first of these sectings to be held in New York.

In this city the use of concrete as a sub-stitute for abrick and stone has not made much headway as elsewhere. It is used or floors in some buildings instead of fireproof arches, but many New York confactors consider it too heavy to be safe for the modern tall office buildings. According to President Bowen of the inter-national union, however, it is making seri-tis inreads on his trade everywhere. In a statement which he has just issued he simits that the trade is prosperous now, but continues:

The only matter that is giving the members of the Bricklayers and Masons' Union wrous concern now is the erection of buildings made of concrete. Unless this is stopped the distance of our trade is seriously menaced, operate buildings have become a sort of jet and unless the style is killed the bricklayers and masons' unions must die.

Time will show that concrete buildings are jet des durable than those constructed of wrick or stone. In the meantime members of our crafts will die of starvation unless woole continue to have the buildings made of the latter materials.

Bowen also declares that concrete buildings made

Bowen also declares that concrete buildings are just as expensive as those built of stone and brick.

GOULD RAILROAD FINANCES. MERCHANTS TRUST IN COURT. Justice Cochrane Reserves Decision on

Sale of Hudson Valley Bonds. ALBANY, Aug. 26.—The affairs of the Hud-son Valley Electric Railroad Company, operati g between Troy and Lake George, and Saratoga, with principal office in Glens Falls, and of the Merchants' Trust Company of New York city received the further attention of the courts to-day at the hands of Supreme Court Justice A. V. S. Cochrane.

He granted an application setting aside $20,000 as a special fund for the receivers of the trust company to pay ordinary running expenses and other disbursements He also granted two orders, one permitting an additional 25 per cent. clividend to depositors, making 65 per cent. in all; and the other permitting the receivers to pay a 40 per cent. dividend to general creditors other than depositors.

Attempts have been made to force the receivers of the trust company to dispose at once at public auction of $861,000 of the bonds of the Hudson Valley Railway Company which the trust company holds as security for a syndicate loan which is not due until March I next. The receivers have intimated that the bonds would be sacrificed if disposed of at a forced sale, and it is claimed that such a sale might wreck the railway company, which happening, the friends of the Hudson Valley Railway Company assert, is being maneuvered for by the Delaware and Hudson Company, whose lines the Hudson Valley road parallels for a distance of seventy-five miles.

Before Justice Cochrane to-day William L. Kiley, representing the Hudson Valley company, asked for an order restraining the receivers of the trust company from selling the bonds until the syndicate loan falls due next year.

In opposition to this application James I. Moore, attorney for a committee of the depositors of the trust company, asked Justice Cochrane for an order compelling the trust company receivers to sell the assets of the trust company, including these bonds at public auction at a time and place to be selected by the receivers, to place to be selected by the receivers, to the highest bidder for cash, for a sum not less than the difference between $2,100,000 (which amount has been offered for all the assets of the trust company) and the aggregate disbursements and dividends between Aug. 10 and the date of such sale.

Edward Lauterbach opposed the application on behalf of the receivers of the trust company and intimated that E. Clarence Jones & Co., New York city brokers, who made a lump offer for the assets of the trust company, were behind the Moore application.

these two last applications. Attorney-General Mayer, who was present in court, practically sustained the position taken by Mr. Lauterbach, saying he was satisfied the receivers of the trust company were administering its affairs in a sale and examplificant manner.

SPECULATORS' BUREAU

At the time J. Pierpont Morgan sniered the financial world he found it an undefined BUSINESS. When he retires from its activities, he will leave it a PROFESSION of the highest order and distinction, made so largely through his personal efforts and example.

When, forty-five years ago, Mr. Morgan stepped into Wall street, New York was in its financial swaddling clothes. To-day it is rapidly becoming the great financial centre of the world; a centre whose approbation means success, whose from means failure.

No financial growth in the history of the world has equalled in rapidity and substance that of the United States. No financial growth in the history of the world has equalled in rapidity and unstance with the United States.

To-day it stands in its incomparable position, not only because of unequalled natural resources, but also because of the brainy men who have recognized these vast stores of natural wealth and have in the briefset of periods converted them into the billions, that even now represent but a moiety of its inexhaustible wealth.

Forevert aways these brains men stands I. Plestront Morgan—foremost, because be has ever been

Foremost among these brainy men stands J. Pierpont Morgan—foremost, because be has ever been sphulder of wealth, has siways steed for development and growth, never for depreciation and possimism.

Memories in Wall street are short and ungrateful, and one to accomplish great things must make many enemies, for fealousy and envy are encountered at each turn.

It is hardly, then, to be wondered at, that a few years ago a New York weekly was induced to cartoon Mr. Morgan as Napoleon, surrounded by his Steel stock soldiers, and dubbed it the "RETREAT FROM MOSCOW."

Bad as was the situation, it did not end at Elba, and every soldier is allye, faithful and strong. Mr. Morgan said little, coined his financial "BON MOT" of "UNDIGESTED SECURITIES," and immediately set about making them "DIGESTI. LE."

The "RETREAT" had forced Steel common to 10, Steel preferred to 80, and the pessimist and croaker stood ready to hand the great corporation back again to Mr. Carnegie. Mr. Morgan had made different attrangements.

A thousand shares of Steel common and a thousand of the preferred could at this time have been stood ready to hand the great corporation back again to Mr. Carnegie. Mr. Morgan had made discreas arrangements.

A thousand shares of Steel common and a thousand of the preferred could at this time have been thousand shares of Steel common and a thousand of the preferred could at this time have been bought for $00,000, and was then, as now, returning $7,000 per annum, or about 11 per cent. upon the inbought for $00,000, and was then, as now, returning $7,000 per annum, or about 11 per cent. upon the inbought for $00,000, and was then the $00,000 investment is worth $142,000 to day and in five years more is almost certain to have a market value of a quarter of a million, say $16,000 a year, or over 27 per cent. on the amount invested.

Mr. Morgan had made no mistake about the value of his "GREAT STEEL CORPORATION" or its earning capabilities. His judgment was sound, and every month vindicates its conservation.

But why select the Steel episode? Mr. Morgan's analytical and organizing mind had worked to profitable solutions such problems as the West Shore-New York Central combine—the great coal coalition, the work of years and the investment of millions, with the resulting advances now being winnessed in Reading, Delaware and Hudson, Delaware and Lackawanna, as well as Baltimore and Ohlo, while in the regular list, General Electric, Louisville and Nashville, Atlantic Coast Line and every stock with the Morgan brand is worth following.

This retreating Napoleon has been worth following, and the "OLD GUARD," who has stood by and with him, has not been betrayed.

TO-DAY Mr. Morgan stands as the COLOSSUS OF FINANCE in the largest and highest acceptation of the term.

of the term.

He has seen his enemies talk and go down, while he has affectly and unostentatiously thought and worked to build up. He goes to Europe for rest and health and returns with imperial orders from Italy's King and Turkey's Sultan—other financiers have also lately received orders—but in the form of abb worked to build up. He goes to Furope for reat and health and returns with Imperial orders in the form of subking and Turkey's Suitan—other financiers have also lately received orders—but in the form of subplass.

With this world wide reputation and influence and his commanding position, he now owes it to himself to put his affairs in such shape as to enjoy a well earned leisure for the years to come and to announce his intention of doing so, that the world may be relieved of an anxiety attached to a single but great life.

Such a retirement would be the crowning act of a great career of a great man. To turn his great frim into a trust company bearing his name and under heads selected by himself as qualified to carry formand his well matured plans and views, as he might suggest, would form an imperishable monument to the accomplishments of a remarkable life.

A fitting supplement, to which thousands of the beneficiaries of his great enterprises would gladly at subscribe, would be a MILLION DOLLAR MONUMENT, colossal as his services, to which thousand dollar subscriptions, our own included (now let the right man start it), would be but a grateful acknowledgment to a great financier, still living to enjoy the appreciation and plaudits of his country and those whom he has so faithfully and signally served. Monuments to dead men are all very well—but a great man oughs to be entitled to a great, sensible innovation in this form of public gratitude and appreciation.

Now, then, let the experience of the past be the losson of the future. We reaffirm our conviction, that confident investment purchases of ERIE will found many American homes, MERCANTILE MARINE will be to America what the WILSON likes have been to England, and the SOUTHERN RAILWAY of 1908

Marconi Mid-Ocean Wireless Daily Newspaper.

The numerous requests we are receiving from our customers, the general public and the press for copies of the MARCONI MID-OCEAN DAILY exceed by far the supply that we can secure from the Atlantic liners, who print only a few thousand, just sufficient on each trip for the use of their passengers. To satisfy the interest aroused by a feat which a few years ago would have been considered miraculous, or even impossible. as well as to commemorate the first birthday of the ocean newspaper, we have had 20,000 copies printed for free distribution, reproducing one of the news pages of each day of an early edition throughout a trip across the Atlantic.

This branch of the Marconi System is proving a very profitable source of revenue, which bids fair within a short time to return several thousand dollars annually to the stockholders of the Marconi Company.

The Marconi System has a practical monopoly of the wireless business on the Atlantic. The news is received every day throughout the trip, not only from the various Marconi Stations in both England and America, but also from other steamers up to a distance of 2,200 miles.

By means of the new Marconi magnetic detector and transmitter over one hundred words a minute can be fished, which is three or four times the speed of the ordinary telegraph or cable, while the cost per word is less than half the cable rate. By contract with the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Compenies Marconi messages for passengers at sea can now be sent from any of their 50,000 offices in the United States and Canada. Marconi Securities offer a splendid opportunity for investment. If interested, sen for our free 16-page ILLUSTRATED pemphlet containing complete information on the Marconi Company, the Marconi System, its uses, field of operation, record of achievements, marine service, list of over 400 stations (revised to date) in commercial operation all over the world, and showing its earnings and enormous profits. This Company is formed for the purpose of Manufacturing Patented Machinery in its own factories in all parts of the world. It has several lines of patented Machinery as well as a Power Electric Engine. This is a Perpetual Power Engine. I have a small working engine in my workshop. I mean just what I say. I have also a land and water vehicle. This will push all automobiles out of the market. The inventor has sold all these inventions to the Company for one million two hundred thousands hares, which leaves eight hundred thousand to be sold to stockholders, of which one hundred thousand shares have been sold. There are still I fty thousand shares. No more will be sold at that price. Now, If you have one hundred dollars, this is the time to grasp a competency for life and your heirs after you, for when bur factories are established in all parts of the world you may depend on it dividends will net you in yearly twenty times the amount of what you paid in, namely, two thousand yearly. This is no wildcat scheme, but a bona fide world wide monopoly, that will outrival any steel trust or railway corporation. There is no watered stock; neither will there be any preferred stock, nor any such nonsense as selling and buying on margins; that the shares will rise to thirty or forty dollars a share is oulte probable before this six hundred thousand shares are sold. But remember no less than one hundred shares sold on one certificate. We have no debts in this company; neither do we intend to contract any if possible. Shares will remain at 2,000,000 for all time. It will be the business of the Directors whoever they may be, when they see a good invention of meritorious points placed on the market, to buy into the company so that the mono oly will still remain in the company at in intum. HUSBAND HAD REVOLVER. Used It on Wife Who Left Him-Wounded. She Will Recover.

Mrs. Nina Reum left her husband, Frederick Reum, a painter of 116 East Eighty-seventh street, several weeks ago and went to live at 388 Willis avenue, The Bronx. She took her eight-year-old daughter with her.
Yesterday afternoon Reum called upon her to effect a reconciliation, failed in the attempt and then used a revolver for the apparent purpose of making the separation permanent.

Mrs. Reum ran to the apartment of Mrs.

Mrs. Reum ran to the apartment of Mrs. William Das her, a neighbor, as her husband drew the weapon. The first bullet he fired sped harmlessly into a door. Reum grappled with her and pointed the revolver at her heart, but the woman struggled and pushed it aside as he fired.

Reum ran after the second shot, but Policeman Duane of the Alexander avenue station grabbed him as he reached the street. He was locked up on a charge of felonious assault.

Mrs. Reum was wounded in the right arm and side. She was taken to the Lebanon Hospital, where it was said that she would secover.
